Nelly is a Grammy-winning rapper best known for 2000s hits like “Ride Wit Me,” “Country Grammar” and “Hot in Herre.” He also collaborated with Florida Georgia Line on the 2013 summer anthem “Cruise.” .. TLC features original members Tionne “T-Boz” Watkins and Rozonda “Chilli” Thomas, who dominated the charts in the ’90s with songs “Creep,” “Waterfalls,” “No Scrubs,” and “Unpretty.” The R&B group still performs under the TLC name; rapper Lisa “Left Eye” Lopes died in 2002... Flo Rida first hit the scene in 2007 with “Low” (featuring the infectious “apple bottom jeans” chorus) and follow-up single “In the Ayer.” The Florida-based rapper’s hits also include “Wild Ones,” “Right Round,” “Club Can’t Handle Me,” “Good Feeling,” “G.D.F.R.” and “My House.”

With B2K currently performing alongside a number of other '00s R&B staples for their Millennium tour, Nelly, TLC, and Flo Rida are teaming up for their own nostalgia-fueled tour. The North American summer amphitheater tour will wrap up at the end of August.. While this new tour isn't quite as jam-packed as B2K's, which also features Mario, Lloyd, and the Ying Yang Twins, it's definitely indicative of a new trend of nostalgia-oriented tours. Earlier this year, Nelly was accused of sexual assault and was previously arrested on suspicion of rape.
