

Florida Georgia Line have just wrapped their 2016 Dig Your Roots Tour, but they're far from saying goodbye to the road. Tyler Hubbard and Brian Kelley will be visiting 28 additional cities for their 2017 Dig Your Roots Tour beginning in January, and will bring along Nelly and Chris Lane for the winter tour.

"We are so pumped to be bringing Nelly and Chris with us on the next leg of the Dig Your Roots Tour," Kelley says in a press release. "They are both electric young performers and great friends of ours!”

The tour will stop in cities throughout Pennsylvania, New Jersey, West Virginia, Florida and more, and Hubbard adds his excitement for Nelly and Lane to join FGL on the road.

“They fit into our tour vibe perfectly and we know our fans are going to love this new experience,” he states. “We can’t wait for 2017 and to see everyone out on the road!”

Florida Georgia Line brought out several special guests during their recent tour stop in Nashville. Dig Your Roots collaborators the Backstreet Boys, as well as Jake Owen and Nelly, surprised a sold-out crowd at Bridgestone Arena.
