The freaks come out at night, and sometimes they tour together, too.. Rob Zombie and Alice Cooper are joining forces, giving you two great ghouls for the maximum scare. The O.G. shock rocker and his spookiest offspring announced a Super Shock joint summer tour, the 19-city Freaks on Parade outing, which will follow-up Zombie's terrifying 2022 tour of the same name. Rounding out the lineup are industrial pioneers MINISTRY and eclectic alternative rock act FILTER.

Zombie dropped The Lunar Injection Kool Aid Eclipse album in 2021 and his reimagining of the classic monster family sitcom The Munsters in 2022; last summer's Freaks on Parade tour featured Mudvayne, StaticX and Powerman 5000. Cooper is planning to drop two new albums in 2023 — to follow his 2021 Detroit Stories collection — while continuing to host his syndicated "Nights with Alice Cooper" radio show.
