Since the early 1970s, James Taylor has been touring tirelessly across the world. 2024 will be no different. From May through September, the 75-year-old Rock and Roll Hall of Fame inductee is hitting the road with his All-Star Band once again.

Along the way, he'll spend quite a bit of time in New York, too. He's currently slated to bring the hits like "Fire and Rain," "You've Got A Friend," "How Sweet It Is" to Buffalo (June 25), Syracuse (June 26), Jones Beach Long Island (Aug. 31) and Saratoga Springs (Sept. 2).

Want to get your mellow on with Sweet Baby James this summer?

Taylor, who was inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame in 2000, has been performing for more than 50 years, with songs like "Fire and Rain," "You've Got a Friend" and "Shower the People." - A six-time Grammy Award winner, Taylor is one of the best-selling musicians of all time, having sold more than 100 million records worldwide. Taylor was inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame in 2000.
